

Cambridge Science Festival

Panel Discussion

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE
Science
Festival

Biodiversity and Spirituality

Prof. R. J. Berry [Emeritus Professor of Genetics, University College, London; former president of the British Ecological Society]

Dr Barny Dickson [Head of Climate Change and Biodiversity Programme, UNEP World Conservation Monitoring Centre, Cambridge]

Dr Hilary Marlow [Lecturer in Old Testament Theology, Faculty of Divinity, Cambridge University; a Director of the John Ray Initiative]

Dr Simon N Stuart [Chair: Species Survival Commission of the International Union for Conservation of Nature]

Chair: Prof. Bob White FRS [Professor of Geophysics, Cambridge University and Associate Director of the Faraday Institute]

2.30 pm, Saturday 13th March 2009

Mill Lane Lecture Room 3

(half way down Mill Lane on the southern side)

The event, organised by the Faraday Institute for Science and Religion (www.faraday-institute.org), is free and open to all. The focus of the event will be questions from the floor.

Followed by free refreshments and a bookstall

www.cambridgescience.org